

GREAT BRITAIN MUST RISE IN AIR AS WELL AS ON SEA

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford Joins in Agitation for the Construction of Inevitable Airship Fleet.

ENGLAND'S FIGHTING ADMIRAL'S BOLD STAND ON NAVY QUESTION

Germany's Progress in Development of Airships Carries With it a Grave Menace to Britain's Supremacy.

Prince Louis of Battenberg, Lord Curzon, Sir Miles, Admiral Sir Percy Scott Demand a Two-Power Standard in Airships as Well as in Dreadnoughts—England Becomes Alive to Fact That She is Being Left Behind in Race for Command of Air.

London, April 6.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford has started in good earnest in his campaign of agitation in naval matters. He has, however, engaged his friends in the belief that the British navy should not be one of the sea alone, but should become an invincible air force. This stand, coming from a man who has been saluted as the "Dog of England," furnishes a remarkable proof of the widespread character of British dread of German airship development.

Admiral Beresford's agitation is not confined to the navy alone. Lord Curzon, Sir Miles, Admiral Sir Percy Scott and other leading statesmen are all in agreement with him. They are all in agreement that the British navy should not be one of the sea alone, but should become an invincible air force. This stand, coming from a man who has been saluted as the "Dog of England," furnishes a remarkable proof of the widespread character of British dread of German airship development.

Germany's Enterprise. It is a noteworthy fact that while the meeting at the Mansion House was in progress members of the House of Commons were drawing the attention of the government to the fact that Germany has built, or is building, a dozen dirigible airships and is urging the government to take up with energy the construction of a British fleet before this new menace to supremacy was overwhelmingly occupied by the enemy.

SERIOUSLY AFFAIRS BUSINESS

Unexpected Commentary on Montreal Campaign Against Veto

Montreal, Que., April 5.—A totally unexpected commentary on the campaign against veto which has been waged in the city during the past few months, was furnished at the meeting of the City Council this afternoon, when a motion was sent to the city fathers complaining that the campaign was affecting business in several sections of the city.

The directors of St. Louis and St. Lawrence wards complained to the city council that since the campaign had gone under full swing, and so many of the disorderly houses had been closed, their business had been seriously affected by the number of women who had been driven from the more respectable element away. The council did not look into the ethics of the complaint, but referred it to the police committee.

NO SCARCITY OF FARM IMPLEMENTS.

Reports which have been appearing in the Winnipeg papers from eastern correspondents to the effect that the West is facing a famine in farm implements, with little prospect of relief, are leading farmers and implement dealers to wonder from what source the information has its origin. One dispatch quotes "the manufacturers as saying that there is no scarcity of implements at all, and that the West is not in need of them. The manufacturers are saying that the agents have been hunting for business in the West and were constantly pointing in for orders, the demand being for goods that have practically been sold and sold to have to remain unsold. Everything in the line has been sold together but nothing else is done to relieve the situation.

The implement dealers in Edmonton laugh at the idea of any scarcity in farm implements for this season. The consensus of opinion is that there is more of a surplus of spring machinery than of any other kind, and, etc., than any other kind. These goods they have in their warehouses and are ready to ship to all the provinces. The sales so far have been unusually heavy.

One firm, which has its local office for Alberta in Edmonton, is reported to have 27 or 28 orders on hand for the season. The firm is a branch of the Red Deer. When these orders are filled, it will be sufficient to supply all the needs of Alberta farmers for this season even if shipments were not received from any other source.

The only parties in the district who seem to be any chance of scarcity is in harvesting. A rule have not yet been placed, but if the opinion of farmers were voiced they would say that there is no scarcity of binders were sold this year. Binders to the old ones would answer the needs of the Edmonton district for this season.

PLOT TO PLUNDER STEAMER

Georgian Revolutionists Planned to Seize $500,000 in Gold. Bakau, Russia, April 5.—A band of Georgian revolutionists failed yesterday in the narrowest margin to carry out a carefully arranged plan to seize the treasure on a steamer trading in the Caspian and to escape into Persia. The steamer Caracat, with $500,000 in specie on board, was about to sail from Kelmak, when the crew appeared on board and searched all the passengers. Among them were the Georgian band, consisting of twenty armed men, led by the leader of the Georgian band, who was the intention of the band to seize the treasure on the steamer and land with the goods on the nearby inhabited Caucasian coast. The Georgian revolutionists were captured by the police.

W. H. A. SOCIETY OPPOSE THE STRATHCONA SITE

Place Themselves Strongly on Record as Opposing a Union Hospital Located on the Strathcona Site—Funds for Medical Equipment Growing Rapidly.

At the regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon of the Women's Hospital Aid Society, at which some twenty-five members were present, the ladies placed themselves strongly on record as being opposed to a union hospital established on the university grounds in Strathcona. The society is not opposed to a union hospital centrally located in Edmonton.

The resolution which was moved by Miss Shibley, and seconded by Mrs. Helwig was as follows:

"In view of the fact that it has been stated in an editorial in one of the local papers that those who oppose the City Hospital being moved to the Strathcona site are taking this attitude merely to gratify a childish prejudice born of jealousy and ill-will, and that the Women's Hospital Aid are animated by such unworthy motives.

Our organization having no personal interest to serve other than the furtherance of the public welfare, we as an organization do not oppose a union hospital, but contend that the needs of the citizens of Edmonton demand that it be established in Edmonton and not in Strathcona.

Resolution of Sympathy.
A standing order of sympathy to St. George's Hospital, was passed by the society, and the president expressed her sympathy for the good work Mrs. Gilchrist had always done in connection with the hospital, as well as in her church and chapter.

Zan-Buk kills the bacteria, gets rid of the poison, and in this way builds up healthy skin very quickly; also, it eases pain and swelling. You have ease, insurance against blood-poisoning, and rapid healing—only Zan-Buk combines the three! Try it!

Mr. Alf. H. Gribb, of Stanley Cribb, says: "While at work recently I had the misfortune to cut my hand with a sharp nail, and the doctor told me to use Zan-Buk on the nail, being so dirty and infected. I knew from previous experience, how good Zan-Buk was, so I cleaned the wound, and within a few days the nail had fallen out and the wound was healed. I would recommend it to anyone who has a cut or scratch. Zan-Buk kept away all inflammation. I was able to go on with my work all the time, and in a few days the wound was healed."

Zan-Buk cures cuts, burns, scratches, abrasions, itching, sunburn, etc. It is the most perfect of all cleaning agents.

THE MOLLY MAGUIRE OUTRAGES RENEWED

Reign of Terror Begins Anew—Two Men Firearms—Strong
Comments Made on State of Ireland by Justice Wright at Assizes Recently Held at Clare.

Dublin, April 2.—Some strong comments on the state of Ireland were recently made by Justice Wright at the Clare assizes.

Bartholomew Macnamara, a young lawyer, was charged with an offence under the Whitley act, passed in the nineteenth century for the suppression of outrages. Evidence was given by Mrs Doyle, whose husband was living on a leased farm on the Benlough estate, that she saw Macnamara fire a revolver outside her home. Police evidence showed that constables who went in the direction whence the shots were fired, met Macnamara and others whom they searched. They found a revolver containing five magnet cartridges in a field by the roadside.

The judge commented on the widespread use of firearms. He had been informed, he said, that revolvers could be purchased for a few shillings, and a rifle that could carry 2,000 yards for less. The habit of carrying firearms was a dangerous one, and he did not know of anything fraught with greater danger to the public peace.

Eventually the jury acquitted Macnamara.

In a second case Pat Stephens was similarly acquitted. A farmer named J. Maloney swore that he saw Stephens fire a revolver shot in the road in front of his house, and he subsequently fired a number of shots about the house.

Head Constable O'Connell gave evidence as to the disturbed state of the Broadford district. The place was full of revolvers, he said, and people coming home from market fired them along the roads.

In the village of Broadford itself recently 15 or 16 shots were discharged by opposing parties at opposite ends of the village, and a constable who set in the line of fire was wounded.

Justice Wright said the head constable had given a graphic account of a pitched battle, in which the one constantly tried to get between the parties.
It was a deplorable state of things that almost every person in Broadford was about carrying a revolver, and the only consolation to his mind was that Broadford was a very good place to live out of.

The jury also acquitted Stephens.

In a third case, in which a man named Kelly was charged with an offence on the house of a man named McMahon, a son of the latter said he recognized the accused by the flash of the gun which he fired into the house. District Inspector McCallan said that the district was very disturbed. Eight dwelling houses had been fired into in this locality in the year 1908, and there had been cases of threatening letters, malicious injuries and maiming of cattle. Kelly was also acquitted.

Nine men of the farming class charged at Athlure with shooting, grounding and stirring, for the purpose of intimidating Michael Ryan, the young son of Mrs. Ryan, who holds an estate on the Clanciarie estate, near Craughwell, were held in $100 each. The farm in question is that on which Constable Goldrick was murdered on January 22.

Mysticisms Passwords.
Mysticisms, signs and passwords are, according to Tim Healy, K.C., M.
P., the means by which members of the "Molly Maguires," distinguished chiefly by their methods before the distinction police magistrate in Dublin and declared that more than 700 "Mollies," armed with loaded bluejackets, came from Belfast to terrorize the recent Irish National convention in Dublin.

Mr. Healy appeared as counsel for Eugene Cream, M.P., who charges Joseph Devlin, M.P., and Denis Johnston, secretary of the United Irish league, with instigating an attempt on him at the convention, and with organizing a plot to disturb the proceedings and excite the convention.
The latter charge is made under the public meetings' act.

The proceedings arose out of the case when William O'Brien and Mr.
Cream, it is alleged was assaulted.
Mr. Devlin is the chairman of the United Office of Irishmen, which its enemies allege has no connection with the great American friendly society of that name. Mr. O'Brien and his friends declare that it is a revival of the "Molly Maguires," which became infamous for the crimes of the last century.

System of Tyranny.
Mr. Healy declared that the question was whether public men could be members in Ulster in the middle of the last century. Mr. O'Brien and his friends declared that it is a revival
last century.

Mr. Healy declared that the ques-
be members in Ulster in the middle of
the last century. Mr. O'Brien and
last century.

"This society, which professed to represent the farmers of Limerick and Surrey's rifles, and Rory O'Connell, and other distinguished persons in Irish history," said Mr. Healy, "was believed to be a revival of the 'Molly Maguires' act."

A private and confidential circular was issued by Mr. Devlin to the members and in consequence 22 young gentlemen, who came from Belfast marched to the meeting.

Mr. Healy held that a formidable loaded blue jacket, which he said was a specimen of a number that were in sacks under the charge of Mr.
Johnston, who, as the men reached the mansion house, gave each of them a green necktie and a shagreen.

"At the close of the day," said Mr.
Healy, "Mr. Johnston from a pile of gold before him, gave to each victim in the vineyard who harbored up his land, half a sovereign. Instructions were given to the Belfast blue-jackets not to allow any men who had a Cork accent to come near the platform."

Charles Keen, of Dublin, a steward at the convention, stated that at 8 o'clock on the morning of the convention he and 40 other men received from Mr. Johnston a bag which he told them that any man who caused a disturbance or became in any way obnoxious to be driven out by force, and that if necessary the blue-jackets were to be used.

"About 10 a. m. a great number of blue-jackets came. He did not see any blue-jackets with them but that might be accounted for by the fact that the Dublin men had been told by Mr.
Johnston to conceal their batons in their inside pockets."

MONTREAL'S VIO SCANDAL

Alderman Martin makes charges and is asked to leave Crafters

Montreal, Que., April 5.—An up-surge was caused in the City Council today when Alderman Martin, M.
Martin, who is also M.P. for St. Mary's division, made charges that there were grafters in the city council and aldermen who were peddling out places to candidates friendly to himself. He declared that he knew of two aldermen who had received money for appointments. These remarks were greeted with great indignation from the city council and amidst a whirlwind of questions and interruptions, an alderman demanded that Martin make good his charges and name the aldermen who had received money. Alderman Martin became embarrassed at the effect of his bombast and in the midst of the storm of the interpellation department, which he is chairman, told him he had paid a number of the committee $200 for his job and would be willing to pay $500 more to be made superior tendent. This statement of Ald. Martin was greeted with renewed up-surge by the council and after a heated debate a motion was passed calling upon Martin to either name the aldermen and make good his charges or to resign from the council. Martin had previously asked the unanimous consent of the council to name the objects of his charges, but when this motion was unanimously carried he checked up and asked time to consult his solicitors before publishing any names. The session was heated and the trouble was only ended by Ald.
Martin moving that a special committee be appointed to investigate his charges, which was promptly granted.

SUICIDE WAVE IN NEW YORK

Eight Take Their Lives in Various Ways in One Day.

New York, April 6.—"In a suicide wave" which swept the city today eight persons took their lives in various ways. Four of the victims were women, three men and one boy, six years of age. Trouble over financial matters was given as the cause in several cases. In others no reason for suicide was given. The most remarkable one of the suicides was a Brooklyn woman, Mrs. Emma Van Schick, whose death was due to asphyxiation.
Her body was found in bed today. She was 65 years old and had lived the life of a recluse since July last.

SITUATION IN INDIA IS GRAVELY MENACING

Sedition Has Organization Beyond Oil —Disfranchising Legislation Behind —Outrages in Very Few From Being Worthy of No Concern—Not Racial in Character

Calcutta, April 5.—Last week's tragedy at Alipore furnished, amongst other things, a grim comment upon the latest disfranchising legislation. It is clear that the government was mistaken in supposing that the natives were so much influenced by their homes in Calcutta and Barrack as a few weeks ago were the nearest of the Bengal "castles." At the same time it indicated pretty positively that there is an organization, and that that organization is able to employ instruments of a deadly and unflinching loyalty.

All that the police have so far been able to get out of Chandra Chunder Bose, the latest recruit to the band of progressive of the city council, which he recently joined, is that a revolver was placed in his hand, and that he was told to shoot. He did not know, and that he was hidden to kill the government prosecutor at Alipore, which he innocently did. It is fairly obvious that he must have been promised to receive some such reward, and also, that the commission must have studied him thoroughly. At all events they could not have happened upon a more suitable ensnarement, for Chandra Chunder Bose is the most prominent of the progressive, throughout the week that has since elapsed, and more than all else the self-protection, and the don't careness which have been observed to characterize the other progressive acts in this sanguinary period, he is the most prominent of the progressive.

On other evidence of organization, the business is the priority of the outrages. They are apparently being planned in such a manner as to be timely and to terrify the public one more than to be a mere display of force. The people have been told that the anarchist conspiracy is gaining ground, that the menace of the movement are by no means so imminent as the hands which execute its decrees. It is not easy to ascertain the reason of this, as the youths who have been taken red-handed have displayed a complete and determination which has much reflected their years. In any case the directing intelligence which has behind these outrages is obviously far from completely baffled all efforts to isolate it.
And whereas the desperate men who have been led to be justified if the outrages had simultaneously and finally, it is in default of evidence which is not so clear that they have not had the slightest result in the way of resolving the situation.

The show is open to the public, and will be held from 10 o'clock to 5 p.m. on each day.

The only class judged were the young stock, and as one remarked, the animals would present a much better appearance and make a much more favorable impression on prospective buyers, if the young stock were taken of them during the first months. This is true, and right and show class, but the younger ones also show that more attention is paid to their care and that the younger ones are allowed to suffer for themselves to a greater extent than the older ones. In the other words, when the animals are taken of them during the first months, they are right and show class, but the younger ones also show that more attention is paid to their care and that the younger ones are allowed to suffer for themselves to a greater extent than the older ones.
